ITEM 4: ADVISORY BUSINESS

Firm Description

Tull Financial Group, Inc. ("TFG" or the "Firm") was first incorporated as R.W. Tull & Associates, Inc. in 1992 by Robert W. Tull, Jr. The principal owners of the firm are Robert W. Tull, Jr. and Cathy C. Tull. There are currently nine full-time employees, including employees who hold the Certified Financial Planner™, Certified Senior Advisor, Registered Financial Consultant, or Financial Paraplanner Qualified ProfessionalSM designations, and an employee who is credentialed with National Social Security AdvisorsSM. TFG will, from time to time, contract with other individuals on an as-needed basis, including marketing and paraplanning support. The Firm is federally registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission "SEC" as a Registered Investment Adviser.

TFG offers investment management and financial planning to individuals, families, and their related trusts and family businesses. TFG works with clients to define their financial concerns, goals, and objectives, and to develop strategies for reaching those objectives, some of which may include cash flow and spending plan management, tax planning, college planning, investment planning, insurance and risk review, retirement planning, estate planning, company retirement plan evaluations, Social Security and Medicare options, and/or other issues specific to the client.

TFG may recommend other professionals (such as lawyers, accountants, insurance agents, etc.) at the request of the client. Clients are under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. Other professionals are engaged directly by the client on an as-needed basis even when recommended by the Firm. Any conflicts of interest will be disclosed to the client and managed in the best interest of the client. If a client engages any professional recommended by TFG and a dispute arises thereafter relative to such engagement, the client agrees to seek recourse exclusively from and against the engaged professional.

Types of Advisory Services

The primary type of advisory service offered by TFG is investment supervisory services (also called asset management). TFG also offers financial planning services to accompany and/or enhance client investment supervisory services. Other services requested by clients that are isolated in scope are generally handled on an hourly basis. It is - TFG's intent that a financial plan or investment proposal will culminate in an ongoing relationship with the client as his/her Trusted Advisor.

In performing its services, TFG is not required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals. Each client is advised that it remains his/her responsibility to promptly notify TFG when there is any change in his/her financial situation and/or financial objectives for the purpose of reviewing, evaluating, or revising previous recommendations and/or services.

The following are typical planning arrangements offered to clients:

Financial Planning

This offered service includes modular (topic-specific) or broader financial planning as appropriate for the client through implementation of the Financial Planning Association's seven steps to the financial planning procedure: understanding the client's personal and financial circumstances, identifying and selecting goals, analyzing course(s) of action, developing the recommendation, presenting the recommendation, implementing the recommendation, and monitoring progress and updating. The topics can include cash flow and spending plan management, tax planning, college planning, investment planning, insurance and risk review, retirement planning, estate evaluation, company retirement plan evaluations, and/or other issues specific to the client. A written evaluation of the client's current situation and goals is provided to the client. Recommendations are given in each area specifically requested by the client. This service typically includes two meetings in addition to the introductory meeting.

For clients whose relationship with TFG begins with a Financial Plan: Upon presentation of the client's financial plan (the 'presenting' step), a client may choose to engage TFG for implementation of the plan, which may involve either Investment Supervisory Services or hourly services.

Investment Proposal

An Investment Proposal involves a process of identifying the client's portfolio and the goals and objectives, measuring the client's risk tolerance, the development of a mutually agreed upon Investment Policy Statement ("IPS"), and a recommended investment plan per account, complete with fund selections and allocations. This service can be offered singularly, or as part of a broader Financial Plan. The Investment Proposal is the beginning point for engaging TFG for Investment Supervisory Services.

Investment Supervisory Services

The majority of services are provided by TFG to its clients through Investment Supervisory Services. Some clients opt to engage in Investment Supervisory Services without financial planning, as TFG does not require financial planning to accompany this service. Investment Supervisory Services typically begin with the Investment Proposal described above, which culminates in a mutually agreed upon IPS. The IPS is the contract by which TFG guides the client's portfolio allocation, and it provides a benchmark by which clients can understand portfolio performance in light of their risk level. Each client's IPS is periodically reviewed with the client, and mutually agreed upon adjustments are occasionally applied to the client's IPS over time as appropriate to the client's situation. A client engages TFG for Investment Supervisory Services by signing a Managed Asset Portfolio ("MAP") Agreement.

Small Business Retirement Plan Support

TFG provides investment account structure and administrative support for small business owners who offer Simple IRA, 401(k), or other retirement programs to their employees. TFG provides support for enrollment meetings, account application setup, fund selections, and trading support for participants. TFG uses Charles Schwab as custodian for its small business retirement plans and uses adopted plan administration materials also provided by Schwab (as needed).

Larger Business Retirement Plan Support

TFG provides similar support for larger companies offering 401(k) and profit-sharing plans to its employees through a fixed-percentage-fee arrangement as the Advisor associated with that plan. TFG assists with the plan's transition or setup with the custodian, the fund selections, enrollment meetings, and other support for plan participants.

Hourly Services

From time to time, a client may require financial services isolated in scope, which do not require a Financial Plan or Investment Supervisory Services. TFG responds to these service requests by clarifying the objective of the project and providing the hourly rate and estimated hours expected to complete the project. An Hourly Services Fee Agreement is signed.

Personalized Services

TFG places a top priority on customizing services to suit the individual needs of the client. Client goals and objectives are diagnosed in meetings and through correspondence and are used to determine the course of action for each individual client. The goals and objectives for each client are documented in the Firm's client relationship management system.

Should clients desire to invest in securities outside of TFG's recommendations, they may do so by establishing and funding a non-managed account. The performance for non-managed accounts and investment positions may be excluded from TFG's quarterly reporting processes, depending on the arrangement.

Assets Under Management ("AUM")

As of December 31, 2025, TFG managed approximately $367,086,618 in assets for about 295 clients. Of these accounts, roughly $364,003,112 is managed on a discretionary basis and $3,083,506 is managed on a non-discretionary basis.

ITEM 5: FEES AND COMPENSATION

Description

TFG bases its fees on a percentage of AUM, hourly charges, and fixed fees. All fees are negotiable at the sole discretion of TFG.

Financial Planning

Initial financial planning fees are determined according to estimated hours and level of complexity based on individual situations and requested areas of review. Fees are determined at the outset, with half payable upon the signing of the Financial Plan Fee Agreement, and the other half payable upon completion and presentation of the Plan. The minimum fee charged for a Financial Plan is $2,000, which includes an Investment Proposal with the Plan.

Existing clients who have engaged TFG for Investment Supervisory Services will occasionally request a Financial Plan. If a Financial Plan is requested, at the discretion of TFG, financial planning services may be included with the costs of the other services and clients may not be charged any additional fees. However, in certain circumstances, there may be an additional charge on a one-time basis for financial planning based on the complexity of the situation and requested areas for review. In the event a one-time charge is assessed, the maximum amount is $1,000 or an hourly rate with estimated hours, whichever is less.

Investment Proposal or Retirement Projection (Without a Financial Plan)

At times clients may request only an Investment Proposal or Retirement Projection for their portfolio. The minimum cost for the Investment Proposal service is $750. The minimum cost for Retirement Projection service is $1,500. As with Financial Plans, an Investment Proposal or Retirement Projection is half payable upon the signing of the Fee Agreement, and the other half payable upon presentation of the Proposal/Projection.

Investment Supervisory Services

Clients who seek Investment Supervisory Services at TFG sign the MAP Agreement that outlines the parameters of the investment program, including the specific duties of TFG and those of the client as well as the accounts to be managed by TFG.

Management fees are bracketed and determined according to these annual percentages:

Fee Brackets				Annual Fee
-0-	through	$1,000,000	First $1 million in assets	1.00%
$1,000,001	through	$2,000,000	Next $1 million	0.75%
$2,000,001	through	$3,000,000	Next $1 million	0.50%
$3,000,001	through	$20,000,000	Value exceeding $3 million	0.25%

This fee bracket system applies to managed portfolios by client household, whether consisting of one account, several accounts, personal investment accounts, retirement accounts / qualified retirement plans, custodial accounts for the benefit of minors, accounts held away from TFG's recommended custodians, or any combination of these. In some circumstances, related family assets are aggregated for calculating fee breakpoints. This allows each client to reach the same tier breakpoint, thus lowering the fee amount for each household.

Management fee is assessed and applied to client portfolios on a quarterly basis. The client's fee is paid in advance based on the market value of the client portfolio as of the last business day of the calendar quarter. The fee schedule, described in annual terms above, is adjusted to one-fourth in order to cover services provided for the subsequent quarter only. (For example, a portfolio valued at $700,000 on March 31st will be assessed a management fee of $1,750, which is one-fourth of 1.00%. That fee will cover services provided from April 1st through June 30th.) If assets in excess of $25,000 are deposited into or withdrawn from an account after the inception of a billing period, the fee payable with respect to such assets is adjusted to reflect the interim change in portfolio value. To the extent there is cash in a client's account, it will be included in the value for the purpose of calculating fees but may be waived at TFG's sole discretion. Fee calculations are fully disclosed to the client in a bill which is included with every quarter-end report.

Depending upon the extent of service involved, a one-time service fee may be charged to establish the account(s), based upon hourly rates. Management services are considered in-force and billable upon signing the MAP Agreement; however, TFG may choose to begin billing once assets have been successfully transferred to TFG's investment supervision.

All clients, but especially those with smaller accounts, should be advised they may receive similar services from other professionals for higher or lower overall costs.

Small Business Retirement Plan Support

An initial setup fee is assessed for establishing Small Business Retirement Plan support and is priced according to the size of the plan and estimated administrative setup time. From here, TFG directly bills a quarterly flat fee of $375 to the business for which Small Business Retirement Plan services are rendered. Fees are made payable by check to TFG.

Larger Business Retirement Plan Support

Retirement Plans involving a professionally drafted Plan Document and Third-Party Administrator are typically placed in custody with Vanguard with TFG described as the Advisor to the plan. Annual fixed percentage fees are negotiated per plan between the Business, custodian, and TFG.

Hourly Services

TFG offers one-time services to clients seeking clarity on a specific subject related to either financial planning or investment management; however, the services will not involve the full development of a Financial Plan, Investment Proposal or other involved services. For requested services with a clear objective and point of completion, TFG will provide estimated hours for the proposed service and present a Fee Agreement. Hourly rates range from $100 to $500. One-half will be billable upon signing the Agreement, and the last half will be paid upon presentation.

Fee Billing

Financial Plan, Retirement Projections and Investment Proposal Fees

These fees are charged half upon agreement to engage TFG to develop the Plan and/or Proposal, and the second half payable upon presentation. Fees are paid directly from the client to TFG by check or credit card.

Investment Supervisory Services

Currently, clients under a MAP Agreement have quarterly fees deducted from a designated brokerage account at their qualified custodian to facilitate billing. These clients sign consent in advance for direct debiting of their investment account for quarterly management fees. In some limited circumstances, clients may pay for Investment Supervisory Services via check.

Hourly Services

Fees for hourly services are estimated upfront and included in a signed Agreement of services. Half of the estimate is paid upon agreement, and the other half upon completion of services. Clients may pay by check or credit card directly to TFG.

Other Fees

Custodians may charge transaction fees on purchases or sales of certain mutual funds, stocks, bonds, and exchange-traded funds ("ETF"). These transaction charges are usually relatively small and are incidental to the purchase or sale of a security. In some cases, custodians also charge monthly, quarterly or annual custody fees. Fees for custody are disclosed to clients when this type of arrangement is recommended.

Mutual funds and ETFs generally charge a management fee for their services as investment managers. The management fee is included within the investment's operating expense ratio. Mutual fund fees also include transaction charges for the purchase or sale of securities within the fund and may charge other fees as disclosed in the fund prospectus. These fees are in addition to the fees paid by the client to TFG.

Please see Item 12: Brokerage Practices of this brochure for more information.

Past Due Accounts and Termination of Agreement

TFG reserves the right to stop work on any account that is more than 60 days overdue. In addition, TFG reserves the right to terminate any financial planning engagement where a client has willfully concealed or has refused to provide pertinent information about financial situations when necessary and appropriate to providing proper financial advice, per the judgment of TFG. Clients may terminate their agreement with TFG at any time by providing notice.

Terminating MAP clients who are billed in advance of services will receive an itemized bill detailing services paid but not received (fees are paid to cover services for the following quarter, not the past quarter). Calculations are based on the number of days remaining in the quarter that have not received service. Any unused portion of fees collected in advance will be refunded to clients within 30 days.

TFG will cease to perform services, including processing trades and distributions, upon termination. Assets not transferred from terminated accounts within 30 days of termination may be “de-linked,” meaning they will no longer be visible to TFG and will become a retail account with the custodian.

Compensation for Sales of Investment Products

The Firm’s compensation is solely from fees paid directly by clients. The Firm does not receive commission based on the client’s purchase of any financial product, including insurance. No commissions in any form are accepted.

ITEM 6: PERFORMANCE-BASED FEES

Sharing of Capital Gains

TFG does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest. Performance-based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client. However, the nature of asset-based fees allows TFG to participate in the growth of the client’s wealth. This also means that TFG’s fees can decline when the client’s portfolio declines in value.

ITEM 7: TYPES OF CLIENTS

Types of Clients

TFG generally provides investment advice to individuals, families, trusts and estates. Advice may extend to entities related to the client, such as small businesses and charitable organizations, including foundations and endowments. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

While TFG does not impose minimum dollar values of assets for individual accounts, TFG does set the aggregate portfolio for a MAP client’s household of managed assets at a minimum of $750,000, which may be waived at TFG’s discretion.

ITEM 8: METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods at TFG include fundamental analysis. The main sources of information include YCharts and Morningstar reports and research, fund prospectuses, financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, SEC filings, and annual reports.

Investment Strategies

The primary investment strategy TFG uses for client accounts is tactical asset allocation. TFG typically uses passively managed index and ETFs in addition to actively managed funds, dividend-paying stocks, individual bonds, municipal bonds and CDs, where there are opportunities to add value by individual security selection. Portfolios are generally globally diversified to control the risk associated with traditional markets.

TFG uses a family of designed portfolios, the contents of which are adjusted as market opportunities are identified and market dynamics change over time. TFG does not engage in market timing or charting.

The investment strategy determined for a specific client is based upon the objectives, income needs, client's comfort with risk, and tax situation stated by the client during consultations. The client's goals and objectives are documented during meetings and summarized in a signed IPS. The client may change these objectives at any time. This process identifies which portfolio model is best suited to fulfill the client's objectives.

Portfolio models utilized by TFG include:

Defensive Balanced Portfolio (80% Fixed Income and 20% Equity) seeks the highest return possible consistent with a low probability of a loss in excess of 2.5% over a 12-month period. The portfolio is best suited for highly defensive investors, including those nearing or in retirement or requiring withdrawals of some of their invested assets within a three-to-five-year time frame.

Conservative Balanced Portfolio (60% Fixed Income and 40% Equity) seeks the highest return possible consistent with a low probability of a loss in excess of 5% over a 12-month period. The portfolio is best suited for highly conservative investors, including those nearing or in retirement or requiring withdrawals of some of their invested assets within a three-to-five-year time frame.

Balanced Portfolio (40% Fixed Income and 60% Equity) seeks to maximize returns consistent with a low probability of a loss in excess of 10% over a 12-month period. The portfolio is well suited for investors uncomfortable with an aggressive all-equity strategy who nevertheless require a greater return to reach their specific investment goals.

Equity-Tilted Balanced Portfolio (25% Fixed Income and 75% Equity) seeks to maximize returns consistent with a low probability of a loss in excess of 15% over a 12-month period. The portfolio is appropriate for investors with longer time horizons who are willing to assume above-average short-term volatility in pursuit of long-term growth.

Enhanced Equity Portfolio (100% Equity) seeks to maximize returns consistent with a low probability of a loss in excess of 20% over a 12-month period. It is suitable for long-term investors willing to accept greater (S&P 500-level) risk in pursuit of greater growth.

As assets are transitioned from a client's prior advisors to TFG, clients may hold legacy securities and may place restrictions on individual securities or security types. Legacy securities are those that a client owned prior to or separate from its TFG portfolio. Accordingly, these investments may be placed in a separate account in order to ensure that the legacy securities are not sold when TFG rebalances accounts. These investments may or may not be included in the assets on which TFG charges its fee. Because these securities are not recommended by TFG, there is no expectation that TFG is monitoring these securities with the same amount of diligence as it is monitoring securities it recommends for clients, but TFG will include these securities in written reports to clients. Due to the fact these securities are included in reports to clients, they will also be included in the calculation of performance of a client's overall portfolio, which may have an effect on the performance stated on the reports sent to clients each quarter as opposed to the statements provided directly from the custodian.

Additionally, part of TFG's process includes, where appropriate, involving multiple generations in order to facilitate family financial planning. This can increase the financial education of the later generations and manage expectations. However, potential for conflicts of interest exists with the exchange of intergenerational information. TFG attempts to minimize these conflicts by treating each household as its own fiduciary relationship. Information can only be shared across generations with each household's consent.

Risk of Loss

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor. TFG's investment approach keeps the risk of loss in mind. However, as with all investments, clients face investment risks including the following:

- Political Risks. Most investments have a global component, even domestic stocks. Political events anywhere in the world may have unforeseen consequences to markets around the world.
- General Market Risks. Markets can, as a whole, go up or down on various news releases or for no understandable reason at all. This sometimes means that the price of specific securities could go up or down without real reason and may take some time to recover any lost value. Adding additional securities does not help to minimize this risk since all securities may be affected by market fluctuations.
- Currency Risk. When investing in another country using another currency, the changes in the value of the currency can change the value of the security's value in a client's portfolio.
- Regulatory Risk. Changes in laws and regulations from any government can change the value of a given company and its accompanying securities. Certain industries are more susceptible to government regulation. Changes in zoning, tax structure or laws impact the return on these investments.
- Tax Risks Related to Short-Term Trading: Clients should note TFG may engage in short-term trading transactions. These transactions may result in short-term gains or losses for federal and state tax purposes, which may be taxed at a higher rate than long-term strategies. TFG endeavors to invest client assets in a tax-efficient manner, but all clients are advised to consult with a tax professional regarding the transactions in client accounts.
- Purchasing Power Risk. Purchasing power risk is the risk that a client's investment's value will decline as the price of goods rises (inflation). The investment's value itself does not decline, but its relative value does, which is the same thing. Inflation can happen for a variety of complex reasons, including a growing economy and a rising money supply.
- Business Risk. This type of risk can be thought of as certainty or uncertainty of income. Management comes under business risk. Cyclical companies (like automobile companies) have more business risk because of the less steady income stream. On the other hand, fast food chains tend to have steadier income streams and therefore, less business risk.
- Financial Risk. The amount of debt or leverage determines the financial risk of a company.
- Default Risk. This risk pertains to the ability of a company to service its debt. Ratings provided by several rating services help to identify those companies with more risk. Obligations of the U.S. government are said to be free of default risk.
- Margin Risk. Margin is a tool used to maximize returns on a given investment by using securities in a client account as collateral for a loan from the custodian to the client. The proceeds of that loan are then used to buy more securities. In a positive result, the additional securities provide additional return on the same initial investment. In a negative result, the additional securities provide additional losses. Margin therefore carries a higher degree of risk than investing without margin. Any client account that will use margin will do so in accordance with Regulation T. TFG may utilize margin on a limited basis for clients with higher risk tolerances.
- Short Sales. Short sales are a way to implement a trade in a security TFG determines is overvalued. In a "long" trade, the investor is hoping the security increases in price. Thus, in a long trade, the amount of the investor's loss (without margin) is the amount paid for the security. In a "short" sale, the investor is hoping the security decreases in price. However, unlike a long trade where the price of the security can only go from the purchase price to zero, the price of the security can go infinitely upwards in a short sale. Thus, in a short sale, the potential for loss is unlimited and unknown, whereas the potential for loss in a long trade is limited and knowable. TFG utilizes short sales only when the client's risk tolerances permit.
- Strategy Risk. When investments are made through a strategy rather than individualized investment considerations, there is - the possibility that individualized investment choices would have produced a more positive result for a client than an approach where investments are made for a group of individuals with common characteristics.
- Risks Specific to Private Placements, Sub-Advisors and Other Managers. If TFG invests some of a client's assets with another advisor, including a private placement, there are additional risks. These include risks that the other manager is not as qualified as TFG believes them to be, that the investments they use are not as liquid as TFG would normally use in a client portfolio, or that their risk management guidelines are more liberal than TFG would normally employ.

- Information Risk. All investment professionals rely on research in order to make conclusions about investment options. This research is - a mix of both internal (proprietary) and external (provided by third parties) data and analyses. Even advisers who say they rely solely on proprietary research must still collect data from third parties. This data, or outside research, is chosen for its perceived reliability, but there is no guarantee that the data or research will be completely accurate. Failure in data accuracy or research will translate to a compromised ability by the adviser to reach satisfactory investment conclusions.
- Small Companies. Some investment opportunities in the marketplace involve smaller issuers. These companies may be starting up or are historically small. Although these companies can offer the potential for substantial returns, they also carry meaningful risk. Often, the same factors that keep a company small can also challenge its ability to grow in the future. For example, a company's management may lack experience, or the company's capital for growth may be restricted. These small companies also tend to trade less frequently than larger companies, which can add to the risks associated with their securities because the ability to sell them at an appropriate price may be limited as compared to the markets as a whole. Not only do these companies have investment risk, if a client is invested in such small companies and requests immediate or short-term liquidity, these securities may require a significant discount to value in order to be sold in a shorter time frame.
- Concentration Risk. While TFG selects individual securities, including mutual funds, for client portfolios based on an individualized assessment of each security, this evaluation comes without an overlay of general economic or sector-specific issue analysis. This means that a client's equity portfolio may be concentrated in a specific sector, geography, or sub-sector (among other types of potential concentrations), so that if an unexpected event occurs that affects that specific sector or geography, for example, the client's equity portfolio may be affected negatively, including significant losses.
- Transition Risk. As assets are transitioned from a client's prior advisers to TFG there may be securities and other investments that do not fit within the asset allocation strategy selected for the client. Accordingly, these investments will need to be sold in order to reposition the portfolio into the asset allocation strategy selected by TFG. However, this transition process may take some time to accomplish. Some investments may not be unwound for a lengthy period of time for a variety of reasons that may include unwarranted low share prices, restrictions on trading, contractual restrictions on liquidity, or market-related liquidity concerns. In some cases, there may be securities or investments that are never able to be sold. The inability to transition a client's holdings into recommendations of TFG may adversely affect the client's account values, as TFG's recommendations may not be able to be fully implemented.
- Restriction Risk. Clients may at all times place reasonable restrictions on the management of their accounts. However, placing these restrictions may make managing the accounts more difficult, thus lowering the potential for returns.
- Risks Related to Investment Term and Liquidity. Securities do not follow a straight line up in value. All securities will have periods of time when the current price of the security is not an accurate measure of its value. If a client requires TFG to liquidate the portfolio during one of these periods, such client will not realize as much value as that client would have had the investment had the opportunity to regain its value. Further, some investments are made with the intention of the investment appreciating over an extended period of time. Liquidating these investments prior to their intended time horizon may result in losses.
- Excess Cash Balance Risk. Client accounts may have cash balances in excess of $250,000, which is the insurance limit of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. For cash balances in excess of that amount, there is an enhanced risk that operation-related counterparty risk related to the account custodian could cause losses in the account. We mitigate this risk by carrying cash balances in amounts either subject to protection or as limited as the client directs. Clients may elect to participate in a "cash sweep" program through an account custodian which automatically moves excess cash from the investment account into a cash account and then invests that cash into cash-based investments, such as money market funds. TFG does not receive compensation of any kind for facilitating participation in such cash sweep accounts.
- Use of Artificial Intelligence ("AI") by TFG: TFG employs AI through several platforms for the purpose of improving efficiency in firm operations. Specifically, TFG utilizes AI to take notes during meetings and to gather data from our records for the purpose of reviewing that data as part of our decision-making process. TFG has evaluated the security of these platforms, and does not use any platform that uses client information to train its models or that maintains sensitive client information in its records. The platforms we use discard any audio from recordings used to create the note-taking. Further, human input is required by TFG policy to ensure notes from meetings are accurate, and any data aggregation or document summaries are accurate. The use of these platforms will be reviewed periodically to ensure confidentiality and accuracy as well as efficiency.

- Artificial Intelligence and Impact on Businesses: TFG believes AI is likely to be a significant part of the success or failure of any business in the years to come. Businesses that can efficiently utilize AI will, we believe, be at an advantage over those who do not. This does not just include businesses in which one may invest, such as publicly traded companies and the ETFs or mutual funds that purchase shares in those companies. It also includes the fund managers and other investment firms that manage those ETFs and mutual funds. TFG will have limited visibility, if any, to the true uses, programs and safeguards related to AI that any business outside of TFG has. Accordingly, we are unable to accurately measure or predict the risk AI might post to those businesses.

When TFG makes changes to an investment strategy or rebalances portfolios, these changes may not be made simultaneously. Rather, some accounts may be modified before others. This may result in accounts being traded earlier inadvertently having an advantage over accounts traded later or vice versa.

ITEM 9: DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION

Legal and Disciplinary

The Firm and its employees have not been involved in any legal or disciplinary events related to past or present activities.

ITEM 10: OTHER FINANCIAL INDUSTRY ACTIVITIES AND AFFILIATIONS

Activities

TFG does not participate in any other industry business activities.

Affiliations

TFG does not have arrangements that are material to its advisory business or its clients with any related person.

ITEM 11: CODE OF ETHICS, PARTICIPATION OR INTEREST IN CLIENT TRANSACTIONS AND PERSONAL TRADING

Code of Ethics

A copy of TFG's Code of Ethics is available upon request. The Code of Ethics includes discussions of the fiduciary duty owed to clients, political contributions, gifts, entertainment, and trading guidelines.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

On occasion, a TFG employee may purchase securities for his/her own account which are also recommended for clients and may occasionally purchase the securities at the same time the clients purchase the securities. The Code of Ethics details rules for employees regarding personal trading and avoiding conflicts of interest related to trading in one's own account. To avoid placing a trade before a client or after a client, all employee trades must be reviewed by the Chief Compliance Officer. All employee trades must either take place in the same block as a client trade or sufficiently apart in time from the client trade so the employee receives no added benefit. Employee statements are reviewed to confirm compliance with trading procedures.

ITEM 12: BROKERAGE PRACTICES

Selecting Brokerage Firms

TFG recommends investment accounts be held in custody by Fidelity Institutional Brokerage Group ("Fidelity") or Schwab Advisor Services ("Schwab") (formerly called Schwab Institutional®). Fidelity and Schwab are registered broker-dealers and members of Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). TFG is independent and not affiliated with Fidelity or Schwab. Fidelity and Schwab will hold client assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities upon instruction from TFG or the client. While TFG recommends Fidelity and Schwab as custodians, clients will decide whether to do so and will open account(s) with Fidelity and/or Schwab by entering into an account agreement directly with them. Conflicts of interest associated with the arrangement are described below as well as in Item 14. Clients should consider these conflicts of interest when selecting a custodian.

TFG does not open accounts for clients, although we may assist in doing so. Even though an account is maintained at Fidelity and/or Schwab and TFG anticipates that most trades will be executed through Fidelity and/or Schwab, TFG can still use other brokers to execute trades for client accounts as described below.

TFG has chosen to recommend Schwab and Fidelity to its clients based on a variety of factors. These factors include, but are not limited to, commission costs. Both Schwab and Fidelity have what can be considered discounted commission rates. However, in choosing a broker-dealer or custodian to recommend, TFG is most concerned with the value the client receives for the cost paid – not just the cost. Schwab and Fidelity add value beyond commission cost. Other factors that may be considered in determining overall value include speed and accuracy of execution, financial strength, knowledge and experience of staff, research and service. Schwab and Fidelity also have arrangements with many mutual funds that enable TFG to purchase these mutual funds for client accounts at reduced transaction charges (as opposed to other broker-dealers). Schwab and Fidelity have very high market shares of the investment adviser business, which makes them the most experienced in matters likely to arise for clients. TFG re-evaluates the use of Schwab and Fidelity as custodians at least annually to determine if they are still the best value for clients.

For client accounts that Schwab maintains, Schwab generally does not charge separately for custody services but is compensated by charging commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into a client's Schwab account. In addition to commissions, Schwab charges a flat dollar amount as a "prime broker" or "trade away" fee for each trade that TFG has executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into a client's Schwab account. These fees are in addition to commissions or other compensation paid to the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize trading costs, TFG has Schwab execute most trades for client accounts. TFG has determined that having Schwab execute most trades is consistent with our duty to seek "best execution" of client trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above.

Schwab serves independent investment advisory firms like TFG. It provides TFG and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage services (trading, custody, reporting, and related services), many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help TFG manage or administer client accounts, while others help TFG manage and grow the business. Schwab's support services are generally available on an unsolicited basis and at no charge to TFG.

The following is a more detailed description of Schwab's support services:

Services That Benefit Clients

Schwab's institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through Schwab include some to which TFG might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by clients. Schwab's services described in this paragraph generally benefit clients and client accounts.

Services That May Not Directly Benefit Clients

Schwab also makes available to TFG other products and services that benefit TFG but may not directly benefit clients or client accounts. These products and services assist in managing and administering clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Schwab's own and that of third parties. TFG may use this research to service all or a substantial number of clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Schwab. In addition to investment research, Schwab also makes available software and other technology that:

- Provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements);
- Facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts;
- Provide pricing and other market data;

- Facilitate payment of TFG fees from clients' accounts; and
- Assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

Services That Generally Benefit Only TFG

Schwab also offers other services intended to help TFG manage and further develop the business enterprise. These services include:

- Educational conferences and events;
- Consulting on technology, compliance, legal, and business needs;
- Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession;
- Access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers; and
- Assistance related to the transition of client assets from prior firms.

Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to TFG. Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Schwab may also provide TFG with other benefits, such as occasional business entertainment of personnel.

TFG's Interest in Schwab's Services

The availability of these services from Schwab benefits TFG because we do not have to produce or purchase them. TFG does not have to pay for Schwab's services. These services are not contingent upon TFG committing any specific amount of business to Schwab in trading commissions or assets in custody. TFG may have an incentive to recommend clients maintain an account with Schwab based on its interest in receiving Schwab's services that benefit the business rather than based on the client's interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. TFG believes, however, that our selection of Schwab as custodian and broker is in the best interest of clients. TFG's selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of Schwab's services (see above Item 12: Brokerage Practices "Selecting Brokerage Firms") and not Schwab's services that benefit only TFG.

TFG does not consider whether Fidelity or Schwab or any other broker-dealer/custodian refers clients to TFG as part of its evaluation of these broker-dealers.

TFG is not required to select the broker or dealer that charges the lowest transaction cost, even if that broker provides execution quality comparable to other brokers or dealers. Although TFG is not required to execute all trades through Schwab, TFG has determined having Schwab execute most trades is consistent with its duty to seek "best execution" of client trades. Best execution means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed above. By using another broker or dealer, clients may pay lower transaction costs.

For company retirement plans of significant size, TFG recommends the use of a third-party platform provider for administration of the plan, such as Vanguard. TFG receives a fixed fee, based on a percentage of plan assets, in connection with the service provided to the company upon contractual agreement with the company.

Soft Dollars

Schwab and Fidelity provide TFG with some non-cash benefits (not available to retail customers) in return for placing client assets with them or executing trades through them. Such non-cash benefits are referred to as "soft dollars." Currently, these benefits come in the form of investment research and sponsored attendance at various investment seminars. TFG may also receive such items as investment software, books and research reports. These products, services, or educational seminars are items that will play a role in determining how to invest client accounts. If there is any item that has a multi-use aspect, mixed between investment and non-investment purposes, TFG will determine a reasonable allocation of investment to non-investment use and soft dollars will be allocated only to the investment portion of the product (and TFG will pay the remaining cost). TFG receives a benefit from these services, as otherwise TFG would be compiling the same research itself. This may cause TFG, or another adviser, to want to place more client accounts with a broker-dealer/custodian, such as Schwab or Fidelity, solely because of these added benefits. However, the value of these benefits to all of TFG's clients is included in the evaluation of custodians. Products and services received via soft dollars will generally be used for the benefit of all clients. However, it is possible that a given client's trades will generate soft dollars that acquire products and/or services that are not ultimately utilized for that same client's account. Soft dollars provide additional value and are accordingly considered in determining which broker-dealer or custodian to utilize as part of TFG's best execution analysis.

TFG does not consider whether Schwab, Fidelity or any other broker-dealer/custodian refers clients to the Firm as part of the evaluation of these broker-dealers.

Directed Brokerage

TFG will, on occasion and on a case-by-case basis, allow directed brokerage arrangements when a client requires account transactions be effected through a specific broker-dealer. In such client directed arrangements, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for his/her account with that broker-dealer, and TFG will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" the client's transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by TFG. As a result, the client may pay higher commissions, transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net prices on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case.

TFG does not direct brokerage for specific client transactions except, on rare occasions, individual CDs or bonds, for which TFG selects the best pricing and return on each purchase.

Commission costs per client may be lower on a particular trade if all clients in whose accounts the trade is to be made are executed at the same time. This is called aggregating trades. Instead of placing a number of trades for the same security for each account, TFG will, when appropriate, execute one trade for all accounts and then allocate the trades to each account after execution. If an aggregate trade is not fully executed, the securities will be allocated to client accounts on a pro-rata basis, except where doing so would create an unintended adverse consequence (e.g., quarter of a share or a position in the account of less than 1%).

ITEM 13: REVIEW OF ACCOUNTS

Periodic Reviews

MAP clients: While the frequency of reviews is individually negotiated with each client, TFG seeks a minimum of an annual MAP client review. Accounts are reviewed to ensure all TFG clients receive occasional and anticipated reviews with careful attention. Reviews may vary in focus specific to a client's situation and may include asset allocation updates and rebalancing, performance reviews, tax and estate plan reviews, investment reviews, cash flow monitoring, and more.

Account reviews are performed by Robert Tull, Jr., Philip Tull and William Overton, Jr. All investment plans are reviewed by Robert Tull, Jr. prior to distribution to clients. The number of households for which each reviewer is responsible varies.

Review Triggers

Account reviews for comprehensive financial planning clients are performed more frequently when market conditions dictate, or when a client's objectives change. A review may be triggered by client request, a client's annual review, changes in market conditions, new information about an investment, changes in tax laws, or other important changes.

Regular Reports

Written reports are sent to MAP clients from TFG every quarter-end (March 31st, June 30th, September 30th, and December 31st). The reports consist of a quarter-end newsletter from TFG, a statement of the client's accounts (listed by account registration and account number), a performance summary providing account and total portfolio return over recent periods, and a detailed invoice for the billing period.

ITEM 14: CLIENT REFERRALS AND OTHER COMPENSATION

Incoming Referrals

TFG has been fortunate to receive many client referrals over the years. The referrals have come from current clients, attorneys, accountants/CPAs, personal friends of employees and other sources. The Firm does not pay for referrals.

Referrals to Other Professionals

TFG does not directly or indirectly compensate any person who is not advisory personnel when a prospect or client is referred to them.

ITEM 15: CUSTODY

Account Statements

There are two avenues through which TFG has custody of client funds: by directly debiting its fees from client accounts pursuant to applicable agreements granting such right, and potentially by permitting clients to issue standing letters of authorization (“SLOA”). A SLOA permits a client to issue one document that directs TFG to make distributions out of the client’s account(s).

Clients whose fees are directly debited will provide written authorization to debit advisory fees from their accounts held by a qualified custodian chosen by the client. Clients will also receive a statement from their custodian. Clients will also receive statements and copies of all trade confirmations directly from Fidelity and Schwab.

TFG encourages clients to carefully review statements and confirmations sent to them by their custodian, and to compare the information on the quarterly report prepared by TFG against the information in the statements provided directly from Fidelity and Schwab. Please alert TFG of any discrepancies.

In addition to the account custodian’s custody procedures, clients issuing SLOAs will be requested to confirm in writing that the accounts to which funds are distributed are parties unrelated to TFG.

ITEM 16: INVESTMENT DISCRETION

Discretionary Authority for Trading

TFG accepts discretionary authority to manage securities accounts on behalf of clients. This discretion is exercised within the limitations of the client’s IPS. TFG has the authority to determine, without obtaining prior specific client consent, the securities to be bought or sold. Discretionary trading authority facilitates placing trades in clients’ accounts on their behalf so that TFG may promptly implement the investment policy that they have approved in advance.

On occasion, TFG may offer services on a non-discretionary basis. TFG monitors the accounts the same way as for discretionary services, but the difference is that changes to client accounts will not be made until TFG has confirmed with the client (either verbally or in writing) that TFG’s proposed change is acceptable to the client.

Limited Power of Attorney

Clients must sign a limited power of attorney in order for TFG to be granted discretionary authority. The limited power of attorney is included in the qualified custodian’s account application for TFG’s recommended custodians. For accounts not held with TFG’s recommended custodians, clients may sign a separate limited power of attorney document giving similar discretionary authority to TFG.

ITEM 17: VOTING CLIENT SECURITIES

Proxy Votes

TFG neither receives nor votes proxies for client securities. Copies of the Firm’s Proxy Voting Policies are available upon request.

From time to time, shareholders of stocks, mutual funds, ETFs or other securities may be permitted to vote on various types of corporate actions. Examples of these actions include mergers, tender offers, or board elections. Clients are required to vote proxies related to their investments, or to choose not to vote their proxies. TFG will not accept authority to vote client securities. Clients will receive their proxies directly from the custodian for the client account. TFG may give clients advice on how to vote proxies.

ITEM 18: FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Financial Condition

TFG does not have any financial impairment that will preclude the Firm from meeting contractual commitments to clients. A balance sheet is not required to be provided because TFG does not serve as custodian for client funds or securities and does not require prepayment of fees of more than $1,200 per client, six months or more in advance.

Our goal is to respond to any verifiable consumer request within forty-five (45) days of our receipt of such request. We will inform you in writing if we cannot meet that timeline.
